

The Pink Envelope Project

(completed in class)

What would happen if the matron never took the pink envelope from Lee?

With a partner, spend a few minutes discussing what Lee would write to his dad the day he is placed with the Naillings.

Also, what type of letter would he write as a teenager? What would his feelings be? What events would he think is important to tell his father? What questions would he have for his dad? How would these feelings, questions change over the years?

Check out letter writing on page 836 of your Lang. book

Each partner needs to write one letter from the different time period (one when he arrives at Naillings and one as a teenager).

Lee's Letters must include:

- Detailed examples from the story /10
 - Realistic thoughts and feelings from the story /10
 - Creativity /10
 - Proper spelling and grammar /10
 - Three full paragraphs /10
- /50

When you and your partner have finished the letters, read them aloud to each other and help each other revise the letters to get the best grade.
